DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

1. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Horski (6111334).

As best understood, Horski shows a motor in fig.1-5 comprising: a stator body having a solid core (38) formed of a first material made of powder metal / plastic with a plurality of circumferentially spaced portions (40) having a second material consisting of plastic at an outer peripheral surfaces, and a conductive material is deposited between the teeth (36) over the insulating layer that's more conductive than the first material. Wherein, the insulating material (plastic) is place around the circumferentially spaced teeth, and a conductive material deposited between the teeth.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 7-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Horski in view of Hull (6025663).

1. As see above Horski discloses substantially the claim invention including: a rotor (52) cooperating to drive an output- shaft (58) a frame (12) that can be use in an automobile. However, Horski do not disclose an vehicle component movable between a plurality of operational positions relative to a fixed component driving by an AC motor herein the output shaft is coupled to the vehicle component between the operation position between the stator and rotor cooperating to drive the motor of the output shaft and a closer member fixed to a frame.

Hull teaches vehicle component fig.1 comprising: an electric motor (12) having a vehicle component (10) movable between a plurality of operational positions relative to a fixed component (12) driving by an AC motor wherein the output shaft (14) is coupled to the vehicle component between the operation position between the stator (12.1) and rotor (12.2) cooperating to drive the motor of the output shaft (14) with a gear assembly (18) coupled to the closer member (window see col.1 line 1-2) fixed to a frame for the purpose of driving the closes member. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the electric motor of Horski with the teaching of Hull electric motor for the purpose utilizing a different locking technique which allows the use of a smaller motor and no gear box to achieve the same useful results as a worm wheel drive system at considerably less cost.

Referring to claims 3,9, and 20, little patentable weight has been given to the method of manufacturing limitations (i. e. co-extrusion and) since "even though product-by-process claims are limited by and defined by the process, determination of patentability is based on the product itself. The patentability of a product does not depend on its method of production. If the product in the product-by-process claim is the same as or obvious from a product of the prior art, the claim is unpatentable even though the prior product was made by a different process." In re Thorpe, 777 F.2d 695, 698, 227 USPQ 964, 966 (Fed. Cir. 1985)

Referring to claims 16 and 19 the selection of a known material based upon it's suitability( i.e. Ferro- plastic, nylon filled plastic) for the intended use is a design consideration within the ordinary skill in the art. In re Ileshin, 227 f.2d 197, 125, USPQ 416(ccp1960).

Conclusion

4. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
